

Dear Sir,

I am writing this letter in reference to the advertisement in yesterday's newspaper for the job of a baby sitter to a six-year old child.

I am a father of two twenty year old daughters and I love spending time with young children. This made me to apply for this job. I am also a professionally certified baby sitter by government of Britain and have served around fifty clients in the past which makes me suitable for this job.

I am already moving to Australia to live with my daughter which makes this job more appealing to me and spending idle time would also not be challenging for me in a new country. So, it would request you to let me know about your decision at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,
Hafiz
