

Dear Sir, Madam,

I am writing this letter to express my interest to the advertisement given in the new paper "The Guardian Australia" of Dec 2021. Concerning about living with your family and taking care of little one, who is six year old.

I am professionally trained for nursemaid in Australia. I have done specialized Course in Child psychology from UK. I have been working in a day care centre since eight years.

I have a tendency feeling in taking care of children. My ex-client appreciated my work. They were highly impressed by my patience towards children. Currently, I am in Australia to attend a conference with famous psychologist about taking care of children and mental health.

Nevertheless, I spend my free time in reading books and making organized by best of waste. Surely, this will help in kids as well in organizing things. I hope this job suits me in each ways.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours Faithfully,
Ayesha Naveen
