Ans. The huge growth in the use of the internet over the last decade has led to basic changes to the way that people consume and ~~share~~ share information. Although serious problems have seen as a result of this, there are solutions.

One of the first problems of the internet is the ~~easy easy~~ easy way which children can access potentially dangerous sites. For example, obscene sites are easily accessible to them because with ~~no~~ registration it is easily available and ~~also~~ claim to be an adult. No Doubt that this affects their thoughts and development, which is a negative impact for the children and society. Second major problem is growth of ~~online~~ online fraud and hacking. These days, there are ~~was~~ constant news stories about government ~~and~~ and company websites that have been hacked, as a result, sensitive information going into the criminal's hands.

It is important to take ~~also~~ strict actions for these problems. Governments should ensure that sufficient acts and controls are in place that will prevent young generation from accessing dangerous sites, such as requiring more than simply confirming that you are an adult to view a site.

~~Parent~~ Parents also have a major role for this. They ~~are~~ need to closely monitor the activities of their children and restrict their access to certain sites, which can be done by various computer programs. Companies must improve their onsite IT security systems to make fraud and hacking more difficult by ~~search~~ searching their current systems ~~weak~~ weakness.

To summarize, the internet is an amazing technological innovation, that has transformed human being's lives, but with negative impacts. However, with the right action by governments, individuals and businesses, it can be made a safe place for everyone.
