

There are two main advantages of adolescents going to foreign countries. Firstly, when a student completes his academic course from an international university, the student gets a lot of good job opportunities. For example, after passing out from the university, the students get a chance to apply in big multinational organizations and moreover they are also ready to hire them. Secondly, the quality of education always gets improved when a youth decides to get his education from abroad. For instance, the overseas colleges have updated equipments, highly qualified teachers which teach them with the skills that can be used in industries in which they will work.

This trend of childrens going out of the country for studying also has some disadvantages. To begin with, when a kid is living alone in another country he gets emotionally alone and feels like homesickness. For example, when a teenager is alone in the room he misses his family and gets emotionally disturbed which leads him to do bad things like consuming drugs which affects his overall health. Furthermore, in some countries there are incidence of racial discrimination. For instance, in Canada there was a incidence back in 2017 where a student Luis killed by the local teenagers of Canada. First they were speaking to him in foul language and after that they murdered him.

To conclude, going to foreign country for studying is nice thing and its advantages outweigh the disadvantages.
