

Tourism helps in increasing country economy, but due to large amount of people going in different countries effect the environment too. This essay will discuss the consequences of tourism, and also provide solutions for the problems.

To begin with, due to the influx of people going to different countries effect the ecosystem.

by not following the hygiene standards of that nation, by using different transport mediums to go to different locations. Firstly, when people from other countries visit to another country there they don't maintain cleanliness like, by throwing plastic bottles anywhere instead of dustbins, and spitting anywhere in public places which affects the environment. Hence, they make the place dirty and difficult for anyone to go that place. Secondly, when foreigners come to another country, they use various transport vehicles to take them to different places, and the pollution from the vehicles affect the ecosystem. Hence, polluting the air and depleting the ozone layer. For example, in Delhi, the air quality is worse as there more tourist visit everyday in large numbers. These are the consequences of tourism.

On the other hand, there are a few solutions to these disadvantages like, giving punishment usage of electronic vehicles. Firstly, whenever a foreigner or a local person harms the nature then they should be given fine or punishment depending upon the crime. Thus, developing fear of punishment among offenders. Secondly, as many outsider people use different types of transportation for commuting, the preference should be given to electronic vehicles as they don't pollute the air, and use natural resources for running. Hence, saving the ecology from hazardous gases, and saving people life. For instance, in the time of COVID-19.

as there were no vehicles running on the road due to lockdown, the air quality was very good at that time. These solutions can solve the problem of the biology, and also not affecting the economy of the country.

In conclusion, the government should make strict laws to save the mother earth for our future generation, and also by not decreasing our economy as tourism plays a major role in economy of the country.
